Who are we?

BEING – Mental Health Consumers is the independent, state-wide, peak organisation representing the views, perspectives and experiences of people who live with mental health issues in NSW.

The core work of BEING – Mental Health Consumers is to collaborate with mental health consumers across NSW to achieve and support systemic change. We do this through consumer consultation and co-design, as well as collaborative and responsive policy advocacy work. This includes writing submissions, participating in committees, and providing input and advice to government and other organisations working in the mental health sector.

BEING – Mental Health Consumers has a strong focus on human rights and advocates for the rights of people living with mental health issues and suicidal thoughts to live and participate in the communities they choose. We are a value-based organisation whose work is underpinned by recovery-oriented and trauma-informed principles including respect, social justice, transparency, and a belief that recovery is possible for every individual.

Purpose of the BEING – Mental Health Consumers CALD Advisory Committee

BEING – Mental Health Consumers recognises the importance of including consumer voices in the design and development of the services we operate and view our members as intrinsic to the advocacy work we undertake in influencing policy and services design for people living with mental health issues.

We have established a CALD Advisory Committee to share community perspectives and provide input to assist us with our broader policy and advocacy work as well as other programs, some of which include:

- BEING Leadership Academy
- BEING Lived Experience Network

- BEING Suicide Support and Awareness Program
